

God Watches

I recently discovered that the person who abused me has found local and national fame through being the sole figure in videos which accompany the voices of a male choir. The music is beautiful: the reminder of him and his now acclaimed role shook me. The imagery of him dwelling within mountain ranges, which always remind me of the power of God, made me question the justice of God. Not only has he never faced justice but now it seemed he was given opportunity to glorify himself in the midst of God's natural wonders. Reading the book of Proverbs, a particular verse struck me: 'The eyes of the LORD are everywhere, keeping watch over the wicked and the good' (15:3). When I now look at that video I see a man walking in God's mountain ranges being watched. God watches me, I watch this man-and so does God. This man may enjoy these mountains, he may enjoy his new found fame, he may wish to ignore his crime, his sin, but God knows and keeps watch. There is comfort in that. Christian: remember that God is all seeing and all knowing. The world may forget or turn away-but God keeps watch over you and those who hurt you. Unbeliever: God also watches you. You cannot hide from Him. You may deny His existence-but He knows of yours since He created you and sustains you. Be sure to make right your relationship with him. It is a terrifying thing to fall into the hands of the living God otherwise. Make your peace now so that when you come to know that God watches you-it does not terrify but comforts.
